VIDEOS & STUDY KITS

from Fraynetwork Multimedia

Desert Healing

The story of a series of events of reconciliation which took place in the Kutjungka Region in North Western Australia. The community commemorated the many deaths of their relatives who had been massacred in the area some 50 years before. The occasion was unique – the story of the massacre had not been recorded in Australian history and no healing ceremony, Aboriginal or Christian, had ever been held for those who died there.

The kit contains a video and print materials and offers suggestions for their use in schools or in community education groups.

Cost $33 includes postage & handling – AVAILABLE NOW

Sorry Resource Kit

The kit provides background information on the policy of former Australian governments to separate Aboriginal children from their families. The resource is particularly aimed at provoking discussion on Reconciliation and the implications of the Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commissions recommendation for a national "Sorry" Day.

The kit contains a video and print materials and offers suggestions for their use in schools or in community education groups.
